CAT SHOWING 101

The below applies to the shows held under Southern Africa Cat Council (SACC) by Western Province Cat Club (WPCC)

All pedigree cats need to be registered with SACC. If a pedigree cat is registered with another governing body, they still need to be allocated a SACC registration number. These cats will reflect (ASAA) behind their names.

Pedigree cats are grouped in the following categories :

- Entire (breeding cats) - will have Champion in their title
- Neuter - will have Premier in their title
- Kittens - 16 weeks to 9 months

Domestics are your household pet, unregistered cat, moggie - these are often obtained through a rescue organisation or found abandoned.

Adult (Entires & Neuters) classes from lowest to highest titles :

- Open - cats require 3 x certificates by 3 different judges to be awarded the title of Champion or Premier
- Grand - cats require 6 x certificates by 6 different judges to be awarded the title of Grand Champion or Grand Premier
- Supreme - cats require 6 x certificates by 6 different judges to be awarded the title of Supreme Champion or Supreme Premier
- Imperial Supreme – NEW – cats require 6 x certificates by 6 different judges to be awarded the title of Imperial Supreme Champion/Premier

Kittens do not receive titles and are entered in the Kitten class

In the Adult Pedigree section cats are judged by 3 different judges (3 rings).

For Kittens, cats are judged by 2 different judges (2 rings).

All these judges need to be qualified to judge the breeds they have been allocated against each breed's respective Standard of Points (a description of how each breed should appear physically).

Domestics also have titles they campaign for :

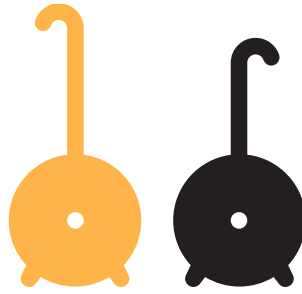

- Master - cats require 3 x certificates by 3 different judges
- Grand Master - cats require 3 x certificates by 3 different judges
- Supreme Master - cats require 3 x certificates by 3 different judges

For Domestics, cats are judged by 2 different judges (2 rings).

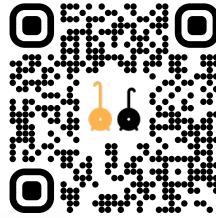

The cat needs to be clean, in good health and free of parasites. A friendly demeanor will most definitely count in the cat's favour.

Please note the above is to serve as a quick guide. Awards & Titles received at SACC shows do not count at the independent shows and vice versa.

Please refer to WPCC website www.westernprovincecatclub.co.za and SACC www.tsacc.org.za for detailed information.

ABYSSINIAN

About the Breed

Sociable and super-inquisitive, the Abyssinian is not only one of the oldest of all cat breeds, but one of the most intelligent. Once thought to be descended from the hunting cats shown in ancient Egyptian tomb paintings, this elegant, colorful cat is extremely active and playful. If not provided with a sufficient supply of acceptable toys, the Abyssinian is fully capable of devising its own. Friendly and extremely affectionate, the Aby is a loving companion who may settle in your lap for a moment but given its high activity level, it's unlikely to stay there for long.

Breed History

Since Ethiopia was formerly called Abyssinia, you might assume the Aby's name reflects African origins. Not at all! The name only indicates that the first Abys who were exhibited at shows in England happened to be imports from Ethiopia. Despite its resemblance to cats in ancient Egyptian art, genetic research has established that the breed originated in the coastal areas of the Indian Ocean and in Southeast Asia, and was likely brought back to England by returning soldiers. The first Abyssinian to be seen at a cat show was "Zula," who was at the Crystal Palace show in England in 1871. Abys were brought to the United States in the early 1900s and were one of the original breeds registered by CFA in 1906.

Traits

Indomitable problem-solvers and intensely curious about everything, the Aby leaves no inch of its environment unexplored and is constantly on the move — unless asleep! Because of this high activity level, the average Aby may not be a long-term lap snuggler, but that does not mean that they won't seek out attention and affection. If it is not provided, they may reach out with a gentle paw to request it. Abys love their owners, their toys (which can be anything) and all food.

The Aby's activity level makes it an excellent choice for families with children, who will enjoy engaging it with toys and hunting games. Well-socialized Abys are comfortable with changing environments and may even enjoy going out in public on a harness. They are fond of high places and should be offered perches from which to survey their domains. They do not like to be left alone for long, so quieter homes may want to acquire two instead of one. Not particularly talkative, Abys excel at communicating their desires to their owners without the accompaniment of much noise.

Physical Attributes

The Abyssinian is a colorful cat. The dense, resilient coat glows with color, due to the bands of ticking that mark each individual hair and create the breed's characteristic "wild" look. Physically, this is a medium-sized short haired cat with a beautifully arched neck and a lithe yet muscular feel. Abys look like they are standing on tip-toe. The large, cupped ears, facial markings, and expressive, almond-shaped eyes add the finishing touches. Most popular in ruddy, a burnished red-brown, the Aby can also be found in three other colors: cinnamon, blue and fawn.

Grooming

Abys require very little in terms of grooming, but should be combed or brushed a few times per month to control shedding. A gentle rub with a chamois cloth on a dry coat will smooth it down and add a beautiful sheen. Baths are generally not needed unless the cat is being shown; in this case, consult your breeder for bathing procedure and product recommendations.

SOMALI

About the Breed

Visualize the vibrant color and high-energy spirit of an Abyssinian, adorned with a full ruff, a soft silky coat, and a dramatic, bushy tail. You've just imagined a Somali! But no need to rely on imagination, these strikingly beautiful cats are quite real and ready to charm their way into your life!

Often compared to a fox, Somalis move swiftly, on tiptoe, their full, plummy tails held high with pride—definitely reminiscent of a fox in pursuit of prey. In this case, however, the prey is more likely to be a feather toy, and you just might not get it back.

Breed History

There's no documentation on precisely how the recessive longhair gene entered the Abyssinian gene pool, but some estimates indicate that barely a dozen Abys survived after World War II. Since many litters from this period included cats of unknown parentage, it seems quite possible that the longhair gene could have been introduced. As longhair kittens appeared, they were quickly petted out, and most breeders would not to admit to producing them. However, a stubborn, isolated few were fascinated by the longhair kittens and began to work with them.

In the mid-1960s, Evelyn Mague produced "George," one of the first documented longhair Abyssinians, and christened the developing breed the "Somali," after Somalia, the country that borders on Abyssinia (now Ethiopia). Acceptance in the show ring was a long struggle, however; it was not until 1976 that CFA began registering Somalis, and not until 1979 that they achieved championship status.

Traits

Active, curious, and bold, Somalis are intrigued by the challenge of a closed cupboard door and are so intelligent that they may learn how to unlatch it. If provided with plenty of toys, they are capable of amusing themselves for hours, but are happiest when engaged in some sort of interactive play with another pet or a human. There's a very sweet side to their well-balanced temperament, and they will demonstrate their affection for owners with head butts, kneading, and sometimes, rearranging your hairstyle.

Somalis tend to be fascinated with water, and may turn on a faucet in order to watch the water drip. They follow their people from room to room, often matching moods with them, settling in to purr and knead at your feet while you work but exploding with energy when you become more active around the house. They are adept at communication with humans but it may not be vocal; their body language makes it very clear when they are looking for attention, play, or food.

Physical Attributes

Medium in size, these cats are well-proportioned, solid, and muscular with silky, medium-length coats that glow with color. Each hair has multiple bands of color, which creates a shimmering, wild look that is truly breathtaking in a fully coated, properly groomed cat. The coat is longer around the ruff, tummy, and britches, and reaches its maximum length on the gorgeously plumed tail. Their heads have a modified wedge shape that is slightly rounded, with gentle contours; large, flaring ears and expressive, almond-shaped eyes complete the look. Eye color can range from intense green to rich copper.

Grooming

Despite their longer coats, Somalis are not a challenge to groom. The coat is relatively tangle-free and resists matting; however, weekly combing is recommended to remove dead hair and control shedding. Somalis generally do not need bathing unless they are being shown. However, some cats may have more oily coats, which can cause the hair to clump up, especially around the base of the tail and up the spine. If you notice this, your cat would benefit from a bath, and you should contact your breeder for recommended products and tips on bathing procedure.
